HISTORIC FORT SOLD

Johnstown, N. Y., Oct. 5.—An interesting real estate transaction was placed on record in the county recorder's office today. It involves the sale of the lands belonging to the Akin estate, and embracing Fort Johnston, the oldest baronial mansion in the United States, to Ethan and Louis Akin, of Grundy county, Iowa, for a consideration of $23,000. The estate was divided into twenty parcels. The first parcel sold to two brothers included East Johnston, which for many years has been the mecca of students of history. The fort was sold for $5000.

Various historical societies have at different times contemplated buying the old stone fort and mansion, but the Akin family would not part with it at any price. It is now believed that the big estate will be divided into building lots, and that the old fort, which is still in a good state of preservation, will be left with a few acres of ground around it. The fort was the first substantial building erected by Sir William Johnston in this section of the state after he had received a grant of 50,000 acres of land from King George II of England. This fort was the scene of many skirmishes with the Indians, and also of many peace conferences with the red men whom Sir William subdued.

Advocate Important Change of Laws.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 5.—Several hundred delegates, representing the various trade, industrial and producing interests of the country, met here today for a three days' conference, in which various matters concerning interstate commerce, transportation rates, etc., will be considered. A movement is to be started to induce congress to vest the interstate commission with additional powers so that, where a given transportation rate has been challenged and after a full hearing has been found unreasonable, the commission may decide, subject to judicial review, what shall be a reasonable rate to take the place of the rate objected to. The ruling of the commission is to take effect immediately and shall remain in force until it is reversed by the court of review. An effort will be made to arouse public interest in the movement.

Commencing September 1st
 The Southern Pacific will sell special tickets to Portland and return, account Lewis and Clark exposition; rate: One and one-third fare for round trip, $1.55. Limit: Thirty days, but not later than October 31, 1905.
